

Appellate Judges' Education Institute Points to JFI Website & Inexpensive Judicial Education Options

Thanks to Judge Margret G. (Maggie) Robb, a Judicial Family Institute (JFI) flyer was included in the packets of attendees of the Appellate Judges' Education Institute's National Summit in Dallas. A member of the Court of Appeals of Indiana, Maggie served as Chair for the annual conference. She worked closely with staff of the SMU Dedman School of Law and ABA Judicial Division which co-host the meeting. She has also supported the JFI mission through the National Association of Women Judges.

The handout pointed to key JFI website articles on ethics, avoiding family conflicts of interests, mentoring, children of judges, health, quality of life, and security. It highlighted materials available for planning inexpensive and highly rated judicial education programs such as Questions for Panel Discussions on Judicial Family Life, Judicial Family Ethical Scenarios, and Speaker Selection for Judicial Family Life Programs.
